Danny Lamonte

Reflection Questions

1 What do you think makes someone generous with their time, talents, or treasures? Why might it be flawed logic to think that to be generous one just needs more time, talents, or treasures than they currently have?

2 How does generosity reflect the nature of God himself? How might our own generosity be considered an act of worship?

3 Which of the following personal values is most likely to impede your own generosity in life? How so?

- a) Comfort
- b) Status
- c) Experiences
- d) Safety/Security

4 In what area of your own life might God be prompting you towards greater generosity? What would it look like to act on that this week?
